"She Has Done What She Could"

by Heath Rogers

Mark 14:3-9 tells of Jesus being anointed by a woman in Bethany. She broke an alabaster flask of costly oil and poured it on His head. Others criticized the woman's action as being wasteful, saying the oil might have been sold and the money given to the poor. However, Jesus rebuked them and said she was doing a good deed for Him. "She has done what she could. She has come beforehand to anoint My body for burial."

He went on to say that everywhere the gospel was preached, what the woman did was to be told as a memorial to her. What an honor! However, notice that her deed was memorialized by the Lord, not because she did something great, but because she simply did what she could. Could the same thing be said of us?

We want to see the gospel spread, the lost saved, and the church grow. Instead of lamenting the things we don't think we can do, or waiting around for something great to do, what would happen if we all just did the things that we can do?

God Has Spoken: Are You Listening?

by Joe R. Price

"God, who at various times and in various ways spoke in time past to the fathers by the prophets, has in these last days spoken to us by His Son, whom He has appointed heir of all things, through whom also He made the worlds" (Hebrews 1:1-2).

It is fascinating to listen to people tell how they believe God has spoken to them. Some say they have had a vision of God. Others, that God spoke to them in a dream, or in the wind, or by some other experience. Some believe God speaks to them when they pray (failing to grasp that prayer is how Christians speak to God, not how God speaks to Christians). Today's passage answers and rejects all these claims of divine communication. Notwithstanding the sincerity of the claim, they are mistaken. God speaks to us all in the very same way, and just as He has since the first century - "by His Son". God speaks to you and me today by the message Christ's apostles preached to the world. They spoke the word of God, and they wrote the word of God for us to hear. God has spoken the same message to us all. The New Testament of the Son is how God has spoken to us "in these last days." The vital question is whether or not we are listening to God by listening to His word. We bring judgment upon ourselves "in the last day" if we will not listen to and receive the words of Christ (John 12:48).

-----God is speaking to us by His Son; are we listening?
