Updates

The “Daily View”

When I started mailing out the Daily View back on March 20th, 2020, I thought it would be for a month or two, at most. As it turned out, I sent it fairly regularly for about ten months. I ceased mailing it out on a daily basis in December, sent it sporadically in January and not much since then. My aim in doing it in the first place was simply to try to stay connected in some way while we were unable to meet in person. I hoped it helped, if just a little. Richard Harvey graciously took over the Sunday View while I was doing the daily publications, but I resumed editing that on January 17th. If you have questions or items to include in the Sunday View, please send those directly to me. I don't anticipate resuming the View on a daily basis, but now that we have our logistics worked out for meeting at the building at various times, I plan to resume sending it out occasionally, mainly to provide news and updates on member issues, and maybe a story or quote or three. If you prefer to not receive it, let me know. You won't hurt my feelings. — David Posey

Addition to the Prayer List

Naomi Fannin has been mentioned in the View, but she is having a particularly difficult time right now. This prayer request from Nola Mulligan was sent out mid-morning yesterday but some may not have seen it:

The loved ones of Naomi Fannin would greatly appreciate your prayers once again for her continuing health problems. She has had a very painful back problem for a very long time. She had an MRI recently and was diagnosed with 4 or 5 bulging disks and stenosis in her lower back. She has a meeting with her doctor and a back specialist in about 2 weeks to let her know what and if they can do anything to help her. We trust that you will help us, her family, to solicit God in your prayers for help for her.

Mark June 15th on Your Calendar

If vaccinations are up and hospitalizations are down, California's arbitrary “tier” system will end on June 15th. That means things will get back to almost normal. The mask mandate will stay in place until further notice. Let's pray that this takes place as planned since we may be able to get back to one service on Sundays in the not-too-distant future.

Wednesday Night Classes

We resumed mid-week Bible classes this past Wednesday and had a nice turnout. The classes were good, I'm sure, but perhaps the main benefit was getting the church family back together for a little while other than on Sunday. There was a lot of visiting in the parking lot afterwards — it almost looked like “normal.”

SB397 – “Churches are Essential”

Hearings begin tomorrow at the State Capitol on the “Religion is Essential Act,” a bill designed to protect the religious liberty of churches and other religious organizations during a state of emergency. You can find more information on it here: tinyurl.com/ystufzux

SCOTUS Decision on Home Bible Studies

On Friday night, the Supreme Court ruled that California's limitations on home Bible studies and prayer groups is unconstitutional. One article, commenting on the decision, read “The Supreme Court Does Not Trust California on Religious Liberty” (see tinyurl.com/6n4vsuf4).

Classes at the Building

A separate email went out this morning on this, but just reminder that, besides our Wednesday night classes, we are resuming our Tuesday morning class at the building, starting tomorrow at 10 AM. We are finishing up a study of the gospel of Mark although it could be titled “The Death and Resurrection of Jesus.” Please feel free to attend. You can also livestream it through Zoom. Here is the Zoom login information:

Quote

G. K. Chesterton, who died in 1922, made this observation that seems to fit perfectly with what we see in the news these days:

“We shall soon be in a world in which a man may be howled down for saying that two and two make four, in which people will persecute the heresy of calling a triangle a three-sided figure, and hang a man for maddening a mob with the news that grass is green.”
