Victory over Death

"During his last few days on earth, Christian made it unmistakably clear to us that he knew where he was going. He wanted nothing more than to reach that promised rest, and to bring others there with him. Christian knew how many people loved him so dearly, and he anticipated this being difficult for everyone. However, he took every opportunity to remind us to dry our tears, be happy for him, and to do everything we can to one day reach that goal ourselves."
